'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

In the recent issue of the Pacific Telephone Magazine, a Highway Safety questionnaire is included.

Some of the questions asked include: Have you witnessed a serious automobile accident? Have you ever been in an accident? If so, what personal injuries were suffered?

This goes on and on for nine questions, each one written for the purpose of making employees of the telephone company think twice while driving.

A sense of humor is a wonderful thing.

But a perverted sense of humor is something to be pitied.

We know one person who would have one whale of a good time feeding his grandmother nitroglycerine and then give her a match for a chaser.

Chicago is continuing its drive against criminals, but the question is, whether or not they will be able to get the men higher up.

Chicago has these periodic drives, in which the police make plenty of noise and arrests all bums and vagrants.

And the men who are doing the racketeering are left alone.

But one of these days the citizens of the Windy City are going to get mad . . . and then the fur will fly.

But the question is, how long will it be before they get mad enough to fight?

Clay Willman, secretary of the state association, was one of the main speakers of the evening.

In his address, Willman laid before the meeting the following suggestions as a means for remedying the tax problem:

That an effective and positive limitation be established covering ad valorem taxes which may be levied on real property.

That the state should provide for and assume a larger share of the burden of taxation for the purpose of education, public health, public welfare, highways and every state regulated function.

That necessary relief may be secured from new sources of revenues, such as luxuries consumption taxes, severance taxes, stock transfer taxes, personal income and other taxes.

That plans be made for the creation of a permanent tax commission.

The speaker stressed the importance of the creation of a permanent tax commission, declaring that it would do work of a creative sort that couldn't be done by a tax board that changes with the political winds.

D. D. Watson was another speaker at the meeting.

Watson told of the efforts being made to have all property owners join their local real estate board. He told of the advantages of such a move.

James O'Hara, of Vallejo, vice president of this district was in charge of the meeting.

'Hero' Will Face Murder Charges

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—UP—The "hero" who rescued last night that he shot and killed a bandit with the latter's gun, was arrested tonight, while police deliberated whether to charge him with being a murderer in a beer war.

John Zeigler, who said he was a tire repair man, killed George Corbett. Zeigler said that Corbett tried to rob him, that they wrestled, and that he (Zeigler) finally grabbed the bandit's gun.

Zeigler was hailed as a hero and a brave citizen until the ever suspicious police snooped around his tire shop, only to find it merely a blind for a sizeable brewery. Corbett's record revealed meantime that he, too, was an illicit brewer. The officers who had congratulated Zeigler on his bravery arrested him thereupon for further questioning.

FINAL PLEA FOR YOUTH LOST

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 25.—UP—A map prepared by Gordon Stewart Northcott will be used by Riverside county officers tomorrow in a search for the graves of various youths he was convicted of abusing and murdering.

An earlier map failed to bring any developments and a new one was obtained from Northcott, who is in San Quentin prison, awaiting execution. Northcott was made so many confessions and given so many false clues that the truth of the new map was doubted.

NO CONFIDENCE STORED IN BOY

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Sept. 25.—UP—Unless there is an unexpected intervention, Gordon Stewart Northcott has only a week before execution on the gallows of the prison for the slaying of several small boys, and he apparently determined to spend his last day with "confession" of murder.

Warden James D. Holohan disclosed today that Northcott's last admission was that he killed men in Riverside county. The warden made clear that he personally discounted entirely the prisoner's statements that he was doing everything possible to check them.

Northcott, he said, has made two detailed maps in his cell which purported to show where the bodies of the alleged victims had been hidden.

The first map was checked carefully in Riverside county by Fred Hocoboom and W. Haynie. San Quentin guards, and Riverside authorities, and found to be completely erroneous, he said. Then Northcott made a different diagram and it is being investigated now.

"I place no confidence in the reliability of Northcott's map or confession," Holohan said. "From his actions at San Quentin was found he is likely to confess anything gruesome."

FINAL APPEAL FOR BOY LOST

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 25.—UP—A final appeal in behalf of Gordon Stewart Northcott, sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin State prison next Thursday for the murder of several small boys in Riverside county, failed late today when Governor C. C. Young refused to grant a personal request of the condemned man's father, Cyrus Northcott.

The father and his friend, the Rev. Larry Newcomb, were in conference with the state executive for some time, and as they left the governor said he could do nothing for them.

"They had nothing new to offer and gave me no grounds to intervene in behalf of the convicted man," Governor Young said.

OAKLAND, Sept. 25.—UP—The charge that Mrs. Maude Meredith, wealthy widow, broke her promise to marry him was made in a suit for $25,000 filed here today by Joseph W. Payne, Berkeley cement contractor.

Payne claimed that Mrs. Meredith accepted his proposal in May, 1928, and that he gave her an expensive diamond ring. A business trip to Reno forced postponement of the wedding date, he claimed, but said the romance was renewed when he returned. He then charged that in September of last year Mrs. Meredith, without provocation, returned to him all gifts she had received from him, including an automobile.

Slip went right to work re-arranging the famous Blue Ghosts backfield, and came out with the surprising announcement that the versatile Dick Boyle will direct the Gaels from the quarterback position. Boyle's sensational play last year against California made him one of the coast's great halves. Madigan looks for the Vallejo boys to do even better than did Butch Simas last year.

Bud Toscani, fair-haired Italian boy, who was coming along in promising style at the end of last season steps into Boyle's position to be the bulwark of the Gaels' offense this year. Still holds down

SWEETSER TO MEET JONES TODAY

MARION CRICKETT CLUB, Ardmore, Pa.—Sept. 25.—UP—Robert T. Jones, Jr., took another stride toward another amateur championship today.

Young Fay Coleman, of Culver City, was Bob's third round victim, and while the curly haired Californian fought courageously he was no match for Jones when the Atlantan put on the pressure. Bobby loafed through the morning round and then made a spectacular finish of the match in the afternoon, winning six-up and five to play.

Meets Sweetser

Jones, by the luck of the draw, now meets his old rival, Jess Sweetser, in the semi-final round tomorrow. Sweetser, who defeated Maurice McCarthy, 5 and 4, in the third round today, is the man who gave Bobby the worst beating the Atlantan ever sustained in an amateur championship. But that was back in 1922, when Jess was a coming champion and Bob had not attained the heights.

Since those days, Sweetser's health has failed and Jones has come to be virtually unbeatable over the longer routes of golf championships. Sweetser beat him 8 and 7, at Brookline in the semi-finals eight years ago, but he's not likely to do so tomorrow.

In the other semi-final bracket are the two youngsters who never before attained such prominence in a national championship—18-year-old Charley Seaver of Los Angeles, and slender, dark-haired Gene Homans of Englewood, N.J.

Homans Wins

Seaver eliminated Bill McPhah of Boston, in a third round match, 5 and 4, while Homans flashed a brilliant succession of pars and birdies to defeat Johnny Lehman of Chicago 8 and 7.

All the frantic excitement of those over-time, extra hole matches of yesterday, in which the favorites fell, was missing from Meron today. The terrific heat which was broken and temporarily by a cloudburst and thunder storm just as the last putt of the day went down, seemed to depress both players and spectators alike.

Young Maurice McCarthy, who fought so courageously Wednesday threatened for a time to carry his fight through to the finish and defeat Sweetser. But in the afternoon, the better golfer triumphed.

Fay Good

The morning gallery rather expected Jones to make a run away affair of his match with Coleman, but the youngster hung on gamely, but Jones was letting Jones outdrive him and then sticking his approaches well inside those of the great man, time after time. If Coleman could have putted in the morning he would have finished on even terms.

Starting out in the afternoon, Jones was too steady for Coleman, who began to pick out all the best traps on the outside nine and send his ball, plunk, into the middle of them. It must be said for the Californian that he took some bold chances, but these left him usually with one stroke too many, and Jones, content with accuracy, called up a lead of six-up at the turn.

McCarthy and Sweetser put on a ding dong battle in the morning's round with no love lost between them. Jess twice laid Maurice tantalizing stymies and appeared not unwilling to get the youngster's goat. You can make McCarthy mad, but you can't make him quit, and the old Flatbush amateur gave back as good as he received.

Sweetser Wins

Sweetser came back in the afternoon with some par golf which left the tired McCarthy boy far behind. Jess's spurt carried him to the 27th in even par, the best outside nine of the lot.

Jess squared the match at the 19th hole and had a commanding lead when he hit the turn in 36 par for Merion's first nine.

The 1922 champion had one bad hole in the afternoon, a six at the eleventh. Fortunately for him, McCarthy chose that same hole to go wandering over the course and also took a six.

The other morning rounds at Merion were replete with the most indifferent sort of golf. The eighth quarter finalists had cards aggregating just 50 strokes over par.

washed out 500 feet of embankment to cover adjacent farmland with rocks and gravel. Water had to be turned out of the canal at a headgate to prevent serious damage to a wide area.

OAKLAND HIGH ELEVEN WILL MEET LOCALS

The Oakland High school gridiron will this afternoon be the scene of the Richmond Union High school varsity gridders' fifth battle of the 1930 season. The Oakland High school warriors will oppose the invaders from Richmond today at four o'clock.

The Richmond Union High school gridders will have to show today, greater pep and versatility than they displayed last Friday against San Leandro, if they expect to triumph over the experienced veteran of Oakland High. It is to this end that Coach Frank Kihbel has been drilling his forces industriously throughout this last week.

Richmond has the weight. The only necessary factor remaining to make the local eleven a capable outfit is coordination. With a strong first string rapidly being formed, Richmond should be able to attain this goal before the Alameda County Athletic league opens in several weeks.

The lineup for Richmond this afternoon will probably include: Baskett, Rosano, Masek, Scarsella, or Snodgrass, backfield; Drexel, Juillerat, ends; Westman, Ball, tackles; Hooffer, Baxter, guards; and Hall, center.

CUBS MAY TIE CARDS FOR PENNANT

By UNITED PRESS

National League:

The St. Louis Cardinals virtually clinched the National league pennant Thursday when they defeated Pittsburgh, 9 to 0. The Chicago Cubs also won, beating Cincinnati 4 to 3, but the best they can do is tie for the pennant.

Even if the Cardinals lose their remaining three games with the Pirates, and the Cubs win their three games with the Reds, St. Louis will finish in a deadlock with Chicago. The standing in that event would be:

W. L. Pct.
St. Louis 90 64 .584
Chicago 90 64 .584

The Cardinals need only one game to clinch the pennant.

Barleigh Grimes, veteran, spitball pitcher who has recovered from a sore arm, easily pitched the Cards to triumph over the Pirates, allowing seven hits no two of which came in the same inning.

The Reds gave the Cubs a scare in the ninth when Cuccinello and Heilmann hit home runs and came within one run of tying the count. Cuccinello hit two homers in the game. English and Hartnett hit homers for the Cubs. It was Hartnett's 35th homer of the season. The Cubs were under the direction of Rogers Hornsby as Joe McCarthy resigned his position, refusing to finish the season as leader of the Cubs.

American League:

The Philadelphia Athletics won their 101st victory in the American league Thursday by defeating the New York Yankees, 13 to 3, in a six-inning game halted by rain. Walberg blanked the Yanks after the first inning when Lou Gehrig hit his 41st homer of the season with two mates on base.

Mattson will find some promising material at St. Mary's. Joe Lang, former amateur flyweight champion of Nevada and present Pacific coast champ is most prominent among them. Among those who starred were: Gilbert, tackle former Tracy boy and Wilson, San Leandro product, who scored the touchdown. Partee, and Clark looked good in the backfield, while Krohn, Baker and Berardine shaped up well in the line.

Ike and Leo Rooney will give the boys stiff work-outs for the ensuing week. Most of the frosh are big strapping fellows and should be the equal of last year's undefeated squad when they master the intricacies of the Notre Dame shift and get a few games under their belts.

Austin Claims New Gas Record

An economy record for the new Bantam Austin is claimed by Roy K. Dorr, local Austin dealer.

Driving one of the new cars, Alvin R. Fowler, a special delivery man drove 30 miles in six hours, making 310 stops in that time. And he used less than a gallon of gasoline, Dorr declared.

The entertainment starts at 8 o'clock and promises to be exceedingly worth-while.

A tasty tid-bit was offered the palate of the music lovers of Richmond last night by the pupils of Irma Randolph, local vocalist and teacher. The program for the "Evening of Music" was promiscuously gathered from the realm of semi-classical and modern composers, ranging from operatic arias to romantic ballads.

Commenting upon the recital in general, one can not fail to acknowledge the purity of tone and the ease with which it was produced, totally absent was the haphazard blotching and blurring so often emitted by vocal students. Also, there was distinct evidence of thorough training in enunciation.

The musical soiree was opened by a delightful ensemble group under the name of the Richmond Melodians. Here was an opportunity to appreciate voice blending with a thought for matching quality and type. The two ballads presented here: "O Italia, Italia Beloved" of Donizetti and "Out of the Dusk to You" of Dorothy Lee were far superior to the presentation of "I Hear a Thrush at Evening" heard later in the program.

However, it is agreed that "If You Only Will" set to the delightful tune of Pestalozza known to most everyone as Ciriibiribi, quite stole the hearts of the audience.

The tenor of the evening, R. Lee Wharton, deserves special mention being possessed not only of a splendid voice but also of a delightful mode of musical interpretation. This was decidedly proved in his interpretation of the lovely aria, "La Donna e Mobile" from the opera Rigoletto by Verdi, which was done in good voice and with a smile so few tenors manage when singing a difficult selection in recital and usually reserved only for the opera presentation. He also sang the dramatic song of Ballard "The Sword of Ferrar" and two ballads, "Early in the Morning" and "For You Alone." Wharton accomplished the difficult task of carrying a melody against an embellished accompaniment which requires two things, an excellent musical ear and good training.

Florence Clark, soprano, gave two groups covering four songs of which "Will o' the Whist" deserved the encore it received. Mrs. Clarke has a melodious soprano voice with a musical quality deemed to please at any musicale.

The solo program was completed with selections by Belle S. Woodford, mezzo-soprano with a pleasing stage personality, contralto solos by Ruth Bergen, and by Max

Two interesting discourses on the study topic were contributed by Mrs. A. L. Rector and Mrs. Fred Newsom.

Mrs. W. P. Cooper, Mrs. C. E. Surles and Mrs. W. P. Drummay were the hostesses at yesterday's meeting.

This missionary group is sponsoring "A School of Missions" conducted every Sunday evening at 6:30, preceding the regular evening service. "India" is the study topic and there are classes for all ages. The school will be continued until November 2.

BLACK CROWS FILM ENDS TODAY

It appears that Moran and Mack these sad-eyed press agents of the Early Bird and the Worm, have found a new and engrossing topic for their droll "arguing" on the screen. This time it is the Sad Fish who comes in for the deliberations of the inimitable blackface comedians who are now appearing at the Fox-California theater in their latest starring picture "Anybody's War."

About the time their first picture was being circulated throughout the country, people everywhere were taking their conversations on the two geniuses of blackface. It was a common occurrence to hear discussions of "Catches what worm?" "Well, who cares about that?" "Why, bring that up!"

Currently with the release and distribution of "Anybody's War" it is highly probable that discussions along the following lines, gleaned from the dialog of the Two Black Crows will be heard in every home, office, street car and bus station.

"Time and tide waits for no man," some will say.

"Who cares about the tide?" others will counter.

"It means a lot to a fish."

"Well, why not let the fish worry about it then?"

"That's just the trouble—a fish can't worry."

"Most all fish I ever meet looked worried."

"In what way?"

"Well, for instance, did you ever look a fish square in the eye?"

"No."

"A blue eyed fish?"

"I never did."

"Oh, they are so sad."

"I don't see anything so sad about a fish. They ever cry."

"Incessantly."

And so on and on until the fish will become another classic of the early bird in the past. There will be other topics of discussion from the film, but the weeping fish will probably be the most famous.

Builders To Hold Meeting In S. F. Soon

SAN FRANCISCO, UP—One of the biggest and so far the first of the 1931 conventions which are scheduled to come to the bay metropolis of California is the national meeting of the Associated General Contractors of America, "the big tent of the construction industry," which will be called to order on Jan. 26, 1934, by a E. Horst, of Philadelphia, president.

The northern California chapter which is one of the 110 chapters throughout the country, will be host for this big conference on construction, which will draw 1200 of the leading men in the industry to this city during the five-day session.

W. A. Bechtel of San Francisco, past president of the organization, a well-known railroad and engineer contractor, was the first to have placed his hotel reservations for a suite, the official hotels having been named as the St. Francis and Palace. The hotel committee reserved approximately 500 rooms, seven months in advance of the meeting.

Milwaukee, Wis., already has announced itself in line for going after the 1932 convention. This year's convention was held in January in New Orleans.

This is the third time that this big convention has come to the Pacific coast, Portland having entertained in 1926, and Los Angeles in 1923.

Preparations are being made for the seating of from 1200 to 1500 persons at the annual banquet, one of the largest of its kind ever recorded in San Francisco convention affairs.

Witchcraft Suit Filed In France

PARIS, UP—Witches are still things to conjure with in France. A short time ago a farmer's wife in the village of Cornet, near Lille, was injured in an accident. The village postman, in odd hours, a honestetter, warned the good woman that the first woman to visit her the next day would be the witch who had placed her under her evil spell. A Mme. Wallart called in the capacity of a solicitor neighbor, and has since been asked to leave town. Instead she will sue, providing she can find a lawyer.

GARY COOPER IN FILM AT THE FOX

"There's mud behind their ears—
"The U. S. Engineers!"
"By using a spade,
"The fightin' Engineers!"
Thus sang the doughboys in the days when shells were flying over France.

Thus, in effect, sings Hollywood in presenting Gary Cooper's "A Man From Wyoming," the first talking picture to glorify the doughy engineer, opens tomorrow at the Fox-California theater.

Cooper is seen as an aspiring young engineer in civilian life at the outset of the war who joins up and helps make fighting history in the battle of pick-axes and pontoon bridges. The warfare sequences show the importance of the engineers' craft in winning battles.

Cooper's company was recruited from ex-service organizations and is colorized entirely by men who were engineers overseas and who saw action at the front. As often happened in the war, Cooper's men in the picture, are thrown into action as combat troops.

Many of the gallant feats performed by the engineers under fire are a part of the picture, such as the raising of a pontoon bridge with shells crashing and splashing all around them.

They may have had mud behind their ears, as the doughboys sang of them, but they were right there in the thick of it," says the engineer of the picture, who has the chance of bringing attention to the engineers. They deserve all the praise that has been given them.

"A Man From Wyoming" was directed by Rowland V. Lee, who served on five fronts during the war.

Boys To Sail To South Seas On Long Trip

SEATTLE, UP—Realization of dream that occupies the thoughts of nearly every seacoast youth at one time or another will send a dozen fortunate boys on a leisurely tour of the South Sea islands in October.

Frank G. Moran, head of the Moran school for boys, on Bainbridge island, will select 12 boys for the trip. They will sail from here Oct. 10 on the three-masted schooner Sanwan, built in 1918 by Robert Moran, shipbuilder.

The skipper of the boat on its romantic cruise will be none other than Capt. R. E. "Mat" Peaseley, described as a two-fisted captain in the "Cappy Ricks" story, by Peter B. Kyne.

Aside from its romantic aspects the cruise is planned as an educational venture which will encourage the youths to depend upon themselves. They will be officers and crew of the schooner and will participate in all activities that accompany such a trip.

The group will be limited to 12 boys, ranging in age from 15 to 17 years, and will be representative of the entire Pacific coast. After sailing from here, they will make stops along the coast, and will leave Los Angeles Nov. 1, touching at points along the west coast of Mexico before heading southwest to the Marquesas islands. They will cruise among those islands, then visit Tahiti and the Polynesian group, and Christmas and Fanning islands before sailing to Hawaii and returning to Los Angeles.

The cruise will consume three months.

PAINFUL CORNS Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickle) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35¢. "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder," 25¢. "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy," 50¢ (all three—$1.10 value for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

INDIANS TELL STORY OF EVOLUTION

BERKELEY, Sept. 24.—A popularized translation of an old Indian myth describing a world flood and the regeneration of men by a coyote and a beautiful girl who came out of a river in Monterey county, California, has just been published by two members of the University of California staff as one of a collection of about 100 such stories, under the title of "California Indian Nights Entertainments."

The authors of the new volume are Edward W. Gifford, curator of the University of California Museum of Anthropology, and Goodwin Harris Block, assistant in anthropology. The book has been published by the Arthur H. Clark company, Glendale, California.

In selecting the material for their book Curator Gifford and Mrs. Block made a survey of all known California Indian myths and stories whose accuracy and authenticity are vouched for by anthropologists of the University of California and other research institutions.

As one of the many stories on the origin of the world and man they offer that told by the Coast Indian of Monterey county. This story, in part, is as follows:

"When this world was finished, Eagle, Humming Bird, and Coyote were standing on top of Pico Blanco, a high mountain in Monterey county. The world was being flooded, and when the water rose to their feet Eagle carried Humming Bird and Coyote and flew away to a still higher mountain. There the three stood until the water went down. Then Eagle sent Coyote down the mountain to see of the world was dry.

"Coyote came back and said: 'The whole world is dry.'"
"Eagle said, 'Go and look in the river. See what there is there.'"
"Coyote did so and came back, saying, 'There is a beautiful girl.'"
"Eagle then said, 'She will be your wife, in order that people may be raised again.'"
"Eagle gave Coyote a trowel of abalone shell and a stick to dig with."

"Coyote married the girl. Coyote's children went out over the world and became the forefathers of the different Indian tribes."

"Then Coyote gave people the bow and arrows with which to kill rabbits. He told them they were to make mush and bread from acorns and that they were to eat seaweed and abalones and mussels."

SAVANT VISITS AT GOTHIC CHURCHES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—A visit to some of the historic churches of Sweden is described by Dr. Waldemar Westergaard, professor of history, University of California at Los Angeles, in a letter written from Copenhagen, in Denmark, to his colleagues in the history department. Dr. Westergaard is on leave of absence until January, and is making a study of early modern relations between the Scandinavian countries and Russia, and the east Baltic lands. He tells of a visit to the summer home on the island of Gothland of Professor J. Roosval, of the University of Stockholm, who is one of two editors supervising the publication of a great series of volumes describing the historic churches of Sweden.

Churches Centuries Old

"Since Gothland has not less than ninety-two parish churches still in active use that date from before the middle of the fourteenth century," writes Dr. Westergaard, "it will require some eight volumes to account for the Gothland churches alone. Professor Roosval is perhaps optimistic when he estimates that ten more years should see the conclusion of the series."

"I climbed with him up over the vaulting of some of these ancient structures, saw the variety of ways in which the old builders had placed the stones, and examined timbers supporting the roofs, and in some instances we found the oak beams that thirteenth century workmen had hewn and put there, still in their place and serving to support the structure."

"There were the old wooden pegs—nails are a very modern device—untouched since the medieval carpenter gave them the last blow with his wooden mallet. In some instances we found evidence of as many as four different systems of bracing, installed at intervals of perhaps centuries, and all left standing side by side. Even the numbers chiseled on joists and beams by the workmen to prevent confusion when the timbers were joined were plainly to be seen."

Fishers Find
Penny Cache
MEMPHIS, Tenn.—One of a trio of juvenile fishermen grabbed for a fish and got a handful of mud. In the mud were several battered pennies. They hurriedly stripped off their clothes and started hand-dredging operations. By nightfall they had a total of 7440 pennies, presumably dumped there by slot machine operators who didn't want the dilapidated pennies used again as nickels in their machines.

How Old Are You?

Today Said
She—I'm 43

Am I Fat?—Not Me

Yes! A year ago I had twenty-two more pounds of fat than I needed—I was fat—and very sensitive about it—but now I say it is foolish for anyone to be overweight. What did I do? Nothing very hard—I can assure you—I cut out pies—candy and all sweets—ate moderately and every morning before breakfast I took one half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water—Never missed a morning.

I lost fat—gained in energy—vigor—charm—and vivaciousness and have a shapely figure I am proud of—anyone can do the same.

UNIVERSITY IS GRANTED MEDAL

BERKELEY, Sept. 25.—Selected as one of three American universities having a curriculum best suited to foster international understanding and friendship, the University of California today was awarded the Fidac distinguished service medal. The award was made by Lieut. Colonel Fred W. Abbott, president of Fidac, and was received by Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, a graduate of the university with the class of 1907, representing President Robert G. Spruill.

Fidac, an organization of nine million veterans of the World War of nine countries, is the Federation Internationale des Anciens Combattants. Two hundred delegates from the nine nations are attending the annual convention of the organization at the Fidac congress continental Memorial hall, in Washington, D. C.

The University of California, Columbia university and the University of Chicago were the three institutions chosen by the jury of award, which included Dr. David P. Barrows, of the University of California; Secretary of the Interior Wilbur; former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker; Dr. Philip D. Dugan, director of the Institute of International Education, New York; Dr. Paul Monroe, Columbia university, and Dr. George E. Vincent, New York.

The award was made on the basis of the number of faculty members of each college interested in international relations, and the courses they give; published contributions on the subject of international relations; attitude of the students and the research they have done in the field; the hospitality of the university and its organized efforts to encourage foreign students; courses offered to foreign students to acquaint them with American institutions and government; exchange of professorships and students with foreign universities, and efforts to give American students traveling abroad correct viewpoints and worthwhile contacts.

Fidac had its inception in Paris immediately following the war and has for its principal purpose the bringing about of better international relations between the people of the earth.

Promote World Peace

Among the subjects under consideration at the congress are ways to promote and insure world peace; a proposal for a universal language that would be understood by all nations, and whether Germany and her allies will be admitted to the peace organization.

Five tenets make up in a general way the working program of Fidac. They are that Fidac promotes all international agreements among governments, affecting the entire people, will be open and above board, with full publicity; that treaties are the laws between nations and they must be executed in good faith; opposition to all persons and propaganda seeking to overthrow, by force, governments existing by will of the people, and support of an international court to outlaw war.

Fidac, by past acts, arranged for the interchange of scholarships, has conducted an international essay contest on the best plan for world peace, has encouraged children of different nations to exchange letters, this year conducted an international small-bore rifle marksmanship contest, and has undertaken many other projects looking to a better understanding among nations.

SOUTH AMERICA TO BECOME STABLE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—While the political upheavals in South America apparently have assumed serious proportions, it is the belief of Dr. George M. McBride, professor of geography, University of California at Los Angeles that within a short time conditions will be entirely settled and the countries affected will be on a more stable basis. Dr. McBride, whose special field is Latin America, has just returned from a year spent in travel and study in the southern continent under the auspices of the University of California at Los Angeles, and the American Geographical Society. His principal interest was the agrarian system of the several countries.

At his first visit to South America occurred over twenty years ago, he has some interesting comparisons as to the changes and developments that have taken place there in recent years.

"To those familiar with Latin American history and the temper of the Latin American peoples," said Dr. McBride, "the apparently violent changes which have occurred recently in several of the countries do not seem alarming. These popular movements appear more serious as reported in the press than they actually are. One may actually live in a Latin American capitol during such overturns of political systems, and hardly know that anything has occurred. In one such case an American resident in a South American capitol received his first information that a revolution had taken place from the United States press, arriving a month after the occurrence.

Revolution is Exaggerated

"In these so-called revolutions, usually very few people take part. They are changes of government made rapidly and often almost entirely without bloodshed. One foreigner who had lived for many years in a Latin American country assured me that a revolution was the best expression of the popular will—better even than an election.

"The recent outbreaks in several of those countries seem to me to be very clearly the attempt of the people to get back into their own hands the government of their countries. "Democratic government is not a lost cause in Latin America. In fact, returning to Latin America after an absence of some years it seems to me that democracy has made decided advance in most if not all of the countries. The common people are taking a far larger part in public affairs than ever before. Until a few years ago a small minority controlled most of the governments. This condition is changing rather rapidly since the world war.

"The people have improved their economic status, education has become more widespread, the development of industry has freed many of them from the more or less feudal peonage in which they existed.

Military Holds Power

"World conditions have affected life in all parts of the continent and at least have offered encouragement to popular government. All this in spite of the fact that control in several of the countries is definitely in the hands of a military group. My observations would lead me to believe that these military leaders come from the ranks of the popular will than the circles which they have replaced."

Dr. McBride told of his observations in a number of the universities in South America.

"There is an increasing intellectual exchange between the United States and the Latin American countries," he said. "In every city visited I found men in influential positions who had studied in the United States.

Many of them were graduates of American universities. Each Latin American country has its group of students attending North American universities. Moreover, to a greater extent than ever before, leading university men of South America are visiting the United States.

Must Understand Latin America

"Naturally, these are the individuals who best understand our life and institutions. Any one going to Latin America on a mission of research does well to find these men. They will understand his aims and needs better than anyone else. Moreover, in nearly all cases such men are among the most friendly in their attitude towards the United States and its people. In this way would do well to reciprocate. I doubt if any one can really understand the Latin American mind until he has spent some time among the people of those countries. The interchange of students and professors should be greatly increased. By this I mean an actual interchange, not simply that they should visit us. We know less about them by far, than they do about us."

During his visit which has just ended, Dr. McBride, who had been appointed by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, as Visiting Professor in South America, spent eight months in Chile, one month in Uruguay and Brazil. He also visited Ecuador, Colombia and Peru, in the universities of each of these countries giving addresses in Spanish upon subjects related to his mission. He reports a cordial reception on the part of university and government

School nurse says all girls should know this

YOU ????
 I DIDN'T SEE YOU!
 BUT PA—I WAS IN THAT PICTURE—YOU MUST HAVE SEEN ME!

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said:
 "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
 Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every drugist has the remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

New Attempt On Record Made

GLENDAL, Sept. 25.—UP—A new attempt to better the world record for refueling endurance flight was started late today by the plane Pride of Hollywood, carrying Loren Mendell, Pete Reinhart and R. V. Howard.

The ship left the grand central air terminal at 3:09:52 p. m. The failure to make a night refueling contact grounded the trio earlier in the week after nine hours aloft. Reinhart and Mendell formerly held the record jointly.

Fighter Freed Of Death Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—UP—The first of two manslaughter cases brought against two local fighters after ring bouts caused the death of their opponents, was dismissed today, when Municipal Judge Sylvain Lazarus decided that "Red" Kuehl was not responsible for the death of "Johnnie" Anderson. The blame for such an affair lies not with the fighters but with the spectators, averred the judge. Max Baer has a similar trial pending due to the death of Frankie Campbell.

TREATY EVASION PLANS TOLD AT HEARING

LEIPZIG, Germany, Sept. 25.—UP—Adolph Hitler, a dark-haired man of medium physique and tall face, took the witness stand at the treason trial of three army officers here today and outlined the plans of his powerful Fascist party for evasion of the Versailles treaty and nullification of the constitution of the German republic.

Hitler said illegal as well as legal methods would be used to accomplish the goal of the nationalist Socialist (Fascist) party, which was made the second strongest in the Reichstag at the recent elections.

The saucy Fascist leader said his party was certain to triumph after two or three more Reichstag elections. He said the party then would change the constitution, "scrap the treaties imposed upon Germany" and establish a new federal court to try "the instigators of the criminal revolution of 1918" which resulted in establishment of the German republic.

Cheer Raised

Then indeed, the decapitated heads may roll in the sand, Hitler said. And spectators in the court room and among the riotous crowd outside raised a cheer despite the warnings of the court.

The general reaction to Hitler's testimony, in which he did not mention specifically the Versailles treaty or the Young reparations plan, was immediately noticeable. Combined with a strong decision by the Folks party not to compromise with the strong Socialist party in formation of a cabinet that might be able to command a majority in the Reichstag. The Hitler exposition of Fascist party aims renewed with more strength than ever before the speculation on establishment of a "strong semi-dictatorship" to solve the present parliamentary crisis and protect the Republican constitution from extremist party attacks. The latest parliamentary developments have greatly diminished hope of solving the crisis without resort to some type of dictatorial government.

The revelations of Fascist work in the army and the strength of the party in the new Reichstag, coupled with Hitler's testimony, have caused government leaders virtually to abandon any plans for permitting Fascist participation in the cabinet and also have changed the viewpoint of many industrialists who believed the Fascists would moderate their policies if given a measure of power.

Testimony at the trial here also has increased political tension, especially where the Fascist "brown shirts" are strong, and the scheduled review of the Fascist "storm battalions" at Potsdam on Sunday was indefinitely postponed by Hitler to avoid danger of disorders. The stock market also reacted, being weak with small sales and dropping quotations.

Was Decorated

Hitler bears two scars that recall his service in the World War with the German armies. He was twice been decorated with the iron cross. Born the son of a minor politician in upper Austria, the Fascist leader was once a laborer who deserted the Socialist labor union for the ideal of 100-percent German nationalism. After the World War he was one of the leaders of the early nationalist Socialist parties.

Post-war depression had resulted in a revolt movement in the Ruhr when Hitler planned his "march on Berlin." He named himself imperial chancellor and Gen. von Ludendorff as head of the armed forces. The central government met the marchers with troops and, after a dozen persons were killed, dispersed them. Hitler was sentenced to five years in prison.

When he took the witness stand today he was an entirely different man, the leader of the second party in Germany. But his ideals were unchanged.

Sees Collapse

He said Germany's collapse could be forestalled only by a "new movement of youth imbued with fanatical Germanism."

Hitler said he possessed no instrument for bringing about a violent overthrow of the government, but stated he was attempting to accomplish "a mental revolution."

"I have been charged with intending to lead a march on Berlin," he said. "I would be crazy if I did so, because it is certain the next elections will increase the number of our deputies in the Reichstag from 107 to 150 or 200. However, our adversaries correctly assume that our victory will be used to convert Germany from a defeatist and pacifist nation into an iron country."

Hitler stressed the contention that he intends to grasp power only by legal means. He suggested, however, that Germany's military power should be assured in spite of the Versailles treaty limitations by some such strategy as employed by the Prussian General Gerhard Von Scharnhorst in 1897-1899 to build illegally a strong Prussian army far beyond the number of men allowed by Napoleon I. The army was later used to defeat Napoleon after the Prussian general had introduced universal army service to replace the old professional army.
